

TEN THOUSAND ARE WAITING FOR A

Walker Lake Indian Reservation Will Be Thrown Open to Settlement By Miners.

RUSH TO COMMENCE AT NOON TODAY

Deputies Stop Illegal Locations But More Trouble Is Feared—A Number of Shooting Affrays Are Reported.

HAWTHORNE, Nev., Oct. 28.—The eve of the opening of the Walker Lake Indian reservation finds all ready to rush. All day long, intense excitement prevailed in the village but tonight nearly all the seekers for mining claims had taken their departure to set up camps along the boundary of the reservation.

White flags mark the miles and miles of lines which the eager hunters are prohibited from crossing until noon tomorrow. Indian police and deputy sheriffs who have traversed the boundary conservatively estimate that there are at least ten thousand men ready to scramble for favored positions on the reservation. Hawthorne contributed about 3,000 while more than that number went out from Yerington. Hundreds of people left from various stations, where they had been camped along the railroad.

Will Be Spectacular Races. The races to points where the richest mineral land is supposed to lie promises to be spectacular in the extreme. Automobiles, horses and all manner of conveyances will be used in making the trip around the southwest end of the lake, while those coming from the east side of the body of water will use launches brought here from San Francisco tonight. A ferry system will also be established.

At a mass meeting of miners held in the court house last night, it was reported that a number of launches were being placed in the water on the eastern side of the lake, contrary to the rules, and a number of deputies, who were authorized to remove them, carried out their instructions today.

Where they found the boats were too heavy to move, they were temporarily dismantled of some parts of their machinery, which will not be turned over to the owners until tomorrow.

Many Illegal Notices. A half hundred deputies also reported at the meeting that in securing the reservation they had found that twenty illegal locations had been made, and that they had destroyed monuments wherever they had been erected.

The papers or location notices were removed and when the names of a number of prominent people were attached to them, no arrest will be made of the people who had illegally secured locations unless the offense is repeated. The principal points to which the rush will be made are Dutchman, Willow, Rose, and Cat Creeks, either dry beds or flowing streams, running into the southwestern part of the lake. Specimens from claims adjoining these creeks show gold.

Hawthorne, which is an old town, has taken on new life since the publication of the proclamation authorizing the opening of the reservation. The hotels are filled to overflowing, stores are rapidly being emptied of their stocks, and gambling places and saloons are crowded.

Shooting Affrays Reported. A number of shooting affrays have been reported on account of drunkenness, but in some cases pistols were drawn in disputes over horses. Several men tried to ride off with others' horses, but they were promptly brought to halt under cover of a revolver. One man riding a horse insisted that it was his and a shooting scrape was imminent when a friend of the two claimants appeared and quelled the trouble. It was found that a mistake had been made on account of the similar appearance of the animals.

More than half the men who will make the rush tomorrow intend to head for the abandoned Anasazi mine near Dutchman creek, and if any conflicts occur, it will probably be at this point.

It is generally conceded that no attention will be paid to the law passed by the miners to have fire arms kept off of the reservation.

Sheriff J. F. Bradley and Sub-Indian Agent Robert Lovegrove have instructed their deputies to center about the western side of Walker lake, where they believe trouble will most probably occur. Many are surprised that the opening is not to be conducted under the supervision of United States troops.

Giant Powder Blast Will Signal. Pacific Coast time will govern the opening, which will be at 12 o'clock noon tomorrow. The signal for opening will be a great blast of giant powder—which will be set off at Grant mountain, just above Dutchman creek, under the direction of Sub-Agent Lovegrove. Time will be kept by a committee consisting of Lovegrove, Fred Dalewood and James H. Sullivan. After the reservation has been opened, a district which will probably be known as Walker Lake mining district, will be formed.

Claims to mining property will be recorded in Esmeralda, Churchill and Lyon counties.

Many townspeople and others, who do not intend to participate in the mad rush will assemble to watch the race.

Those who will enter the reservation from the Yerington side will come over the mountains and will speed down hill a foot.

Hundreds who left Yerington will not cross the Walker mountain range, which skirts Walker lake on the west, but will search for claims in the copper region southeast of Yerington. The mountains near here are dotted tonight with thousands of flickering lights that mark the camps along the boundary.

Perfect weather prevails and the atmosphere is so clear that one can see for a great distance.

Charge of Mismanagement. THORNE, Nev., Oct. 28.—That the grossest kind of mismanagement occurred in preparing for opening the Walker Lake Indian reservation is the charge made by Frank J. Parks, special agent of the United States general land office at Carson, Nevada, who arrived at Thorne tonight. Parks tonight telegraphed to the general land office at Washington that hundreds of men have broken through the lines all through the territory and that the Indian police are unable to cope with the situation.

MORE PUBLIC LAND SALES

Commissioner's Report Shows Increased Revenues.

Considering Establishment of Parks to Preserve Ruins in the Southwest.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The annual report of the commissioner of the general land office, which was made public today, shows that the total receipts for the year ended June 30th were $7,585,524, an increase over the preceding year of $507,712. The total area of the land disposed of is 19,935,187 acres, an increase of 2,374,565 acres. All of the recommendations made by Commissioner Richards, in his report of a year ago, are renewed except in the instances where congress already has taken the action requested.

Under a bill passed by the last session of congress, the land office has under consideration the establishment of various parks to protect the prehistoric ruins of Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah, which recently were made the subject of a report by Professor Edgar A. Mearns.

ALASKA'S
MANY NEEDS

Territorial Government Is Greatly Desired.

Present School Provision and Life Saving Stations Entirely Inadequate.

SEATTLE, Oct. 28.—Hon. Thomas C. Cele, of Fairbanks, Alaska, is in the city on his way East, to Washington. "The people of Alaska," he said, "are more interested in securing a territorial form of government than in anything else at the present time."

We don't mean, of course, to go into all the ramifications of local self government, into township and county organization, as is done in the older settled countries, we simply wish—and it is a natural want of American citizens—to be empowered to legislate for ourselves.

"We are anxious to secure as much governmental assistance as we can for road construction in Alaska."

"The present provision for schools away from the incorporated towns is meager and unsatisfactory and people in many places have to educate their own children after paying their taxes to the government. We look for more governmental assistance along this additional line."

"Alaska is sadly neglected in the matter of life saving stations along the dangerous coasts. Navigators should be given a great deal more protection."

DEED OF SEPARATION
NOT YET SIGNED

Duchess of Marlborough Is Not In Possession of Her Two Sons, Who Are With Father.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Sir George Henry Lewis, acting as solicitor for the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, says he is authorized to state that a deed of separation between the duke and duchess has been signed and that the children of the couple are not in the custody of the duchess, but are with their father at Blenheim Castle.

PASSENGERS ENTRAPPED
IN TWO SUBMERGED CARS

TIDE ROSE OVER THE WRECK, PREVENTING RESCUE UNTIL HOURS AFTER THE DISASTER OCCURRED—CAUSE OF CATASTROPHE NOT CERTAIN—FORTY-FOUR BODIES RECOVERED AT A LATE HOUR—STORIES OF TERRIBLE EXPERIENCES TOLD BY MEN AND WOMEN WHO ESCAPED FROM ONE CAR

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 28.—By the wrecking of a three coach electric train on the West Jersey and Seashore railway this afternoon, at least fifty passengers perished, and the list may reach the total of seventy-five when all is known. While crossing the drawbridge spanning the waterway, known as the "Thoroughfare," which separates Atlantic City from the mainland, the train left the tracks and plunged into the water. The passengers in the first two coaches, with one or two exceptions, were drowned. Up to midnight, twenty-five bodies have been recovered and it is expected that at least twenty-five and possibly fifty more bodies are still in the submerged coaches.

The accident was witnessed by many persons on shore, and assistance was promptly sent from Atlantic City. Little could be done, however, toward saving the lives of those imprisoned in the submerged coaches. The water at the point where the train plunged in was not deep enough to cover the coaches at first, but as the tide rose, they were soon hidden from sight. Late in the evening, a wrecking crew arrived, and with their aid and with the use of a derrick, a dozen or more bodies were taken out and brought to this city. Of the twenty-five bodies, about twenty have been identified and it is believed no difficulty will be experienced in establishing the identity of the others.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 28.—A railroad accident that was even worse than the Meadow wreck of July 30, 1896, took place this afternoon catching the life like rats in a trap. The cars of the 10:30 p. m. electric train due here at 2:30, jumped the track on the trestle bridge over the "Thoroughfare," and before anyone could get out, they were hurled to a watery grave. The trestle is about fifteen feet above the water, and the drop to the water required several seconds, giving time for the passengers to see and calculate their fate.

The entire city was thrown into a state of excitement as the news came in a few minutes after it happened. Fully 5,000 people gathered at the meadows and trestle, relatives and friends crying out in despair, asking for loved ones.

Chief of Police Maxwell had a coroner of police swinging around the death circle, and Chief Black of the fire department called out his men and made them police temporarily. Several bodies were recovered up to 7 o'clock tonight, and the wrecking train is now at work trying to hoist the submerged cars from the water, where fully seventy dead bodies must be entombed.

Cause of the Wreck. The accident was due to a rail "turning in." It appears that the rail, which was an outside one, on the right hand side, coming down, must have been out of plumb about an eighth of an inch. The sharp flange of the electric car caught this, and twisted it inward. Had it spread instead of twisting inward, the accident never would have happened. This twist threw the first car off the track and into the water. The result was that the second and third cars were dragged with it, and while the third was descending the rear portion struck a piece of the abutment, hung there for a short time, and then slid into the water.

But this brief stop saved several lives. A number of men and women leaped out of the windows and the rear door, either into the water or caught hold of a post and were rescued. It was stated that fully 30 to 40 passengers got out of the first and second cars. These were twenty members of the Royal Artillery band, who were on their way here from Philadelphia. One or two bodies of the band men were recovered early in the afternoon.

Joseph Kyler, of Camden, was among those who went overboard with the cars, but he kicked himself loose and escaped from a window and swam to the piling of the bridge where he held fast until rescued.

The First Rescuer. Charles Taessier, a merchant, was the first to reach the scene of the wreck. He secured an axe, jumped on top of the submerged car and began to chop through to liberate the imprisoned passengers. The task was a difficult one, and he was unable to rescue many. He managed to get some women out.

T. C. Smith of Newfield, and A. B. Kelly of Jeffersonville, N. Y., who were passengers on the train, got off at Pleasantville for no other reason than that something told them to change their minds about coming to Atlantic City.

About fifteen people got off at Pleasantville, they said, and nearly as many more got aboard. They said fully 100 passengers were on the train, including a great many women. John Eads, of this city, was on the train, and escaped by crawling through a window of the rear car and swimming ashore.

Bridge Had Been Inspected. The man who attends the bridge declared that the bridge had before been opened about thirty minutes before the train came along. A yacht passed through. He said that he saw the bridge was properly closed and that the traces were inspected. He cannot explain why the rails turned as they did.

A man dying at the hospital is named Vincent, residence unknown, with a fractured skull. Oreste Roy Meatiello, supposed to be a resident of Atlantic City, is also at the hospital badly injured.

Officials Investigate. Coroner Gaskill personally hurried to the scene and made a minute investigation of the twisted track, and will summon a jury tomorrow, to hold an inquest.

Prosecutor Abbott was also on the ground to search for a cause of the negligence on the part of the company.

One of the rescuers at work on top of a submerged car, discovering a woman's jeweled hand, sticking through the roof ventilator. He worked heroically to get her body and finally succeeded in drawing it through. It has not yet been identified.

J. S. Deford, a railroad man, saw a man clinging to the trestle, crying for help, and pulled him up. The man was cut and bruised and declined to give his name.

The wrecking train will work all night, trying to hoist the submerged cars.

List of Dead and Injured. ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 28.—Among the dead are:

WALTER SCOTT of Atlantic City, motorman.

FRANK DESASANO, bandman of Royal Artillery band.

J. P. DEMSEY AND WIFE, of Camden.

Five bodies thus far recovered not identified.

VINCENT DONELLI, member of Royal Artillery band.

PASQUELLI MASELLI, Philadelphia.

P. ANGELO, bandman.

Among the injured are: B. B. Joseph, Camden; John Foran, real estate man of Philadelphia; Joseph Devlin, manager of the Royal Artillery band, severely injured about the head and ribs; Orestis M. Meatiello, Philadelphia; John Dorey, Philadelphia; severely injured. He broke his way through a window and escaped after being in the water. Andrew D. Taylor, electrician, Camden, injured severely.

W. H. Stuart, Winona, N. J.; Frank Dever, Philadelphia; Joseph Debo, manager Royal Artillery band, Philadelphia; Angelo Fazzini, Philadelphia; Andrew D. Taylor, Camden; Ed. Dohal, Florence, N. J.; Edward Morgan, Scranton, Pa.; George Metcalf, Philadelphia; H. B. Joseph, Camden.

Of this list, it is believed most of them will die. They are suffering from bruised limbs and other serious injuries.

When the rear car caught on the abutment of the bridge, there was a frantic rush of passengers for the rear door. Probably a score or more got out and as the car plunged into the water, the others leaped into the water. The last car that went over fell upon the others, and slowly slid off into the water. The moments delay, however, gave several passengers an opportunity to leap into the water before the car was finally submerged.

Motorman Scott stuck to his post and went down with his train. Conductor Curtis also perished.

The third trainman, Breckman Wood, proved him a hero. When the train left the rails, he ran to the rear door of the last car, threw it wide open and held it for the passengers to escape. He held the door open until the car slid off the bridge, and went into the water with it. He then swam ashore. His action in holding the door open saved many lives.

When the third car dropped into the water, Henry Bunker was in the act of crawling from a window. Freeing himself with an effort and being a strong swimmer, he set about to help others. Swimming along the side of the fast sinking car, he kicked out the glass and thus gave several passengers an opportunity to escape.

Boats soon swarmed around the spot when the cars went down, the location of the cars being marked by the tops of their trolley poles. Although the cars got power from a third rail, they also carried trolley poles to take power from above if necessary.

As quickly as a body was brought up or floated to the surface it was removed to the city morgue.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 28.—At 10:30 o'clock tonight the Pennsylvania railroad gave out a statement showing that, according to information received, more than fifty-seven of the eighty persons in the train lost their lives in the Atlantic City wreck. The statement follows:

"Electric train No. 65, consisting of three coaches, which left Camden at 1 p. m., left Pleasantville on time and was running at a speed of about twenty miles an hour, and left the rails at the west end of the drawbridge over the thoroughfare, near Atlantic City, at about 2:30 p. m., and plunged into the water.

"The first two cars were entirely submerged with the rear and resting on the cribbing under the drawbridge. The bridge was found closed properly and locked. The signal showing a clear movement. The track was in good condition, and until the cars came to be raised out of the water it is not possible to find the cause of the accident. It was necessary to procure divers before the track could be raised, and these are now working on the wreck. Divers not being available in Atlantic City, they had to be procured from Camden and Philadelphia. General Manager Atterbury, with a force of men, is on the ground, and every effort is being made to remove the cars from the water and recover the bodies. It is hoped that with the removal of the cars, a critical examination of the equipment can be made in order that the cause of the accident may be determined.

"All efforts are being made to learn the names of the passengers on the train. The bodies recovered are being placed in charge of undertakers to await identification. The equipment of the train is entirely new, having been in service but a few weeks and is believed to have been perfect in every respect. The train had, leaving Pleasantville, seventy-nine passengers, of whom twenty-three have been accounted for as being safe, and it is believed that several more escaped.

The motorman, Walter T. Scott, was drowned. The conductor, J. O. Curtis, and the brakeman, R. B. Wood, escaped. Eleven bodies have been recovered."

A Camden physician, whose name is not known, together with his wife, was in the first car, and both are believed to be among the dead, although the bodies have not yet been recovered.

Though the work of recovery was begun immediately, the recovery of the dead was retarded by lack of facilities and the quick approach of darkness.

It is believed that the cars will be only partly submerged at low tide. Hundreds of anxious relatives and friends are pouring into Atlantic City, searching for missing ones.

Tell Everybody About Kryptok Glasses

A great many people are wearing two pairs of glasses, who would be glad indeed to use one pair. Many who wear the old style double glass with the seam across or piece pasted on, would prefer a glass that had no lines across it to spoil their looks and make them look old.

Tell them of the Kryptok, the lens that gives far and near vision in one pair of glasses; no lines across; no pieces pasted on.

FOR TAX COLLECTOR

S. R. La Rue

From the San Joaquin Valley Farmer.

Here is a candidate without guile, subterfuge or cant. Clean, capable, honest, sober and steadfast in his convictions of right, no man stands better before the people of the county than Bob La Rue of Malaga. He has impressed the voters everywhere as a quiet, gentlemanly fellow, devoid of parade, strut or pomposity—just a plain, blunt man who loves honesty for honesty's sake—without frills or furbelows; a man from the everyday walks of life, who knows what it is to make a living by honest toil and who is therefore in sympathy with the toiling masses, and especially the farmers of the county, among whom he is proud to count himself a humble citizen.

These characteristics make of Mr. La Rue an ideal candidate and should elect him to office on November 6th.

TESTIMONY OF GREAT PHYSICIANS

To the Truth and Reality of the Christian Religion.

Rev. Arthur Polk Brown last evening addressed himself particularly to physicians in his series of discourses on the opinion of the learned professions as to Christianity. His subject was "Testimonies of Great Physicians to the Christian Religion." He said:

"Matt. 8:17-18. And healed all that were sick; that it might be fulfilled which was spoken through Isaiah the prophet, saying, Himself took our infirmities, and bare our diseases. The healing of the sick is one of the noblest callings on earth. Our Saviour did not deprecate the title of 'The Great Physician.' His ministry was devoted quite as much to the healing of the sick as to preaching. The kindly mention of Luke, the beloved physician, shows that the Apostles still had fellowship with those who were skilled in the healing art. Letting alone the question of divine healing, which would take a whole evening for its discussion, I believe that we are to study and use every means God has in Nature and in the constitution of man for the restoration of health, not forgetting that the prayer of faith is still remarkably efficient in healing many cases, and an always welcome synergist with the medicines of the physician. In speaking to the medical fraternity tonight, I address you as brothers in a common cause, for I myself have been in the doctors' offices, in the medical school and the hospital as a student, and ever since I have had the liveliest interest in the progress and advance of your noble science. Our callings have much in common, each under peculiar obligation to the weak and sick, each is expected to risk life and health for the saving of others' lives, each is under a code of ethics that implies consecrated service to the needy whether they can repay or not, each must bear many of the weighty secrets of men unshared, each must be content to be often criticized, misunderstood, and abused by those we have labored most to help, each must often go without appreciation of our most strenuous endeavors, each must respond to the call of duty day or night, and know no hours absolutely our own, each must seek to restore health, not only of body, but of mind and soul, and each will do best when we follow closely the teachings of the Great Physician.

Eminent Physicians' Views.
"Strangely enough, many doctors see so much of the sin and material squalor of life, see the hidden sources of disease and trouble so frequently that they lose faith in human nature and finally in God. Dealing mainly with physical forces and agencies, they of times fail to discern the soul, and its Spiritual Father, God. To help such doubters have gleaned these words: 'John Abernethy, Scotch medical physician, said in addressing a graduating class of medical students: 'Cutivate an acquaintance with these important truths by a daily and careful study of the Holy Scriptures. By daily prayer seek the pardon of your sins through Jesus Christ, the only mediator. When in doubt with regard to any piece of conduct, try it by this test: Is it agreeable to the law of God? will it bear the reflection of a dying hour? will it stand the bar of Omnipotence? Thus, lying under the eye of the Almighty, you may look for a peace of mind which can not be enjoyed in any other way. You may look for the blessing of God on all your concerns, and through Jesus Christ an inheritance in the resurrection of the just.'"

"Wrote David Hays Agnew, one of America's greatest surgeons: 'I am asked what I think of Christ and the Bible. I believe to be the revelation from heaven, the infallible word of God. I believe in Jesus Christ, the eternal Son of God, God-man, through whose imputed merits alone any mortal can be saved. The historic Christ is the hope of the church, and the life of our civilization.'"

"Sir Rindon Bennett, president of the Royal Society of Physicians for many years, wrote: 'It has been truly said that the real evidence of Christianity is in its power. And how can we look round the world and fail to see proof of this power wherever the gospel is known, among all races of mankind, all classes of society, all ranks of intellect. What is there comparable to the religion of Christ in promoting the happiness and welfare of mankind? The full influence of its power, even as regards the present life, we have yet intended to see; and we can but faintly appreciate the inestimable light it sheds on the life to come, the full glory of which has yet to be revealed.'"

"Sir Thomas Brown wrote: 'I dare without usurpation, assume the honorable title of a Christian. I am of the same belief my Saviour taught, the Apostles disseminated. I desire to exercise my faith in the difficult point: for to credit ordinary and visible objects is not faith, but persuasion. I believe He was dead and buried, and rose again, and desire to see Him in his glory, rather than to contemplate him in his death.'"

"Sir Andrew Clark, president of the Royal Society, says: 'No one with any wide experience, such as my own, could doubt how vast, how terrible, how far-reaching, are the sins and sufferings of men today, as they have been in all days; no one can doubt for a moment whatever be his creed, that human redemption have been tried and failed. No one can doubt who has had adequate opportunities of observation, adequate powers of reflection, that there is one remedy, and one plan for all spiritual diseases, and that remedy is to be found in the person and work of Jesus Christ.'"

"James David Forbes wrote: 'I have resolved to devote a more definite time before going to bed for reading the Bible, which shall include a short but clear self-examination. Keep me from a vain and overbearing spirit; let me have a thorough sense of my own ignorance and weakness, and keep me through all trials and troubles of a transitory state in body and soul unto everlasting life, for Jesus Christ's sake.'"

"John Purdue Gray, for thirty years superintendent of New York Insane asylum, wrote: 'The strongest safeguard against suicide is in the sense of man's responsibility to his Creator for all human conduct, including the keeping of our lives. If the sense of accountability to the future is gone, no consideration of one's duty to one's family, to society, or self can ever answer the arguments of the suicide. It is indeed conscience which makes cowards of us all; but it is also the voice which points us to our duty. Let me warn you against the teachings of any so-called philosophy and sentimentalism which tends to disregard the divine truths of the Bible, and of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ.'"

"Samuel C. E. Hannemann, founder of the homeopathic system, said in his last illness to his wife: 'Each man here below works according to the gifts and strength Providence hath given him, and it is only before the faithful tribunal of man that degrees of merit are acknowledged, not so before that of God; God owes me nothing, but I owe Him much, yes, everything.'"

"David Heston, founder of the English Association School of Psychologists, wrote: 'In like manner, it cost Jesus his beloved Son, Jesus Christ, to be an example to the world, to die for it, and to govern it, it cannot be an indifferent thing whether we attend to his call or no. The neglect of revealed religion, especially in persons of authority, is the same thing as declaring it false; for if it be true, the neglect of it is a direct insult to the majesty of heaven. He that honors not the Son can not honor the Father, who hath sent Him with sufficient credentials.'"

"Henry Harrison wrote: 'Having nearly finished the prophetic span of man's years, after varied experiences at home, and glimpses of many of the wonders of the world abroad; having read much in literature, science, and philosophy, including most of the modern works against the Christian religion; by my own judgment, is that the only thing that can make life worth living is the present peace and eternal hope which are in Christ Jesus, whose coming, foretold in the Old Testament, and set forth in the New Testament, brought life and immortality to light in the world.'"

"Sir James Young Simpson, discoverer of chloroform, wrote: 'The immense amount of suffering which is caused by the neglect of the Christian religion is a fact which is a direct insult to the majesty of heaven. He that honors not the Son can not honor the Father, who hath sent Him with sufficient credentials.'"

"Valentine Mott says: 'My desire is to live that I may worship and enjoy, for the balance of my life, a feeling of the presence of my Almighty Father and that through my Lord and Saviour I may be brought to partake of a small portion of His everlasting happiness. If for so temporary object my life has been spared, one thing I am sure, that I have lived to be changed from a sceptic to a full believer in the Divinity of my Saviour.'"

"Benjamin Rush wrote: 'I know there is an objection among many people to teaching children doctrines of any kind, because they are liable to be controverted. But let us not be wiser than our Maker. If moral precepts alone could have redeemed mankind, the mission of the Son of God into the world would have been unnecessary. The perfect morality of the gospel rests upon the doctrine which, though often controverted, has never been refuted: I mean the vicarious life and death of the Son of God.'"

Declaration of Scientists.
"Many more individual testimonies, too many to give, I have in my library. I close with a collective declaration of 300 scientists, signing authorities in Great Britain, signed by them and now in the Bodleian Library, Oxford, Eng. It speaks for itself."

"We, the undersigned, students of the natural sciences, desire to express our sincere regret that researches into scientific truth are perverted by some in our own times into occasion for casting doubt upon the truth and authenticity of the Holy Scriptures. We conceive that it is impossible for the Word of God, as written in the book of Nature, and God's Word written in Holy Scripture, to contradict each other, however much they may appear to differ. We are not forgetful that natural science is not complete, but is only in a condition of progress, and that at present our finite reason enables us to see through a glass darkly, and we confidently believe that time will come, when the two records will be seen to agree in every particular. We can but deplore that natural science should be looked upon with suspicion by many who do not make a study of it, merely on account of the unadvised manner in which some are placing it in opposition to Holy writ. We believe it is the duty of every scientific student to investigate Nature simply for the purpose of elucidating truth, and that if he finds that some of his results appear to be in contradiction to the written Word, or rather to his own interpretations of it, which may be erroneous, he should not presumptuously affirm that his own conclusions must be right, and the statements of Scripture wrong, or rather, that the two side by side till it shall please God to allow us to see the manner in which they may be reconciled, and instead of insisting upon the seeming indifference between science and scriptures, it would be as well to rest in faith upon the points in which they agree. Among the frightened men signing this you will find the leading lights in England, men of the caliber of Dr. J. B. Brewster, William Clark, George Mott and 300 more."

The Good Physician.
"Jesus was our greatest model as to the ethics of healing. He had a profound respect for the personality of the one he healed and used their training and faith as a help to his own virtue of healing. He also loved and respected life, even the lowliest, as you must do to be successful. No experimenting, no trifling with the life or health of the patient who is honorable for a moment. If you are honorable doctors you will protect the life even of the unborn to the uttermost, by your advice and your practice, and your refraining from secret practice. You will set yourself with strenuous firmness against all the modern flippant that trifle with the very sources of life and health, and try to build up a sound, sane, wholesome life, you are to try your best to defeat the work of the devil in keeping people healthy, and a high tribute to your honor that physicians are put in charge of the public health in sanitation, inspection and all general prevention, against the spread of disease, can you not co-operate with the churches most fully in stopping the spread of the disease of sin, in sanitary isolation of moral infection, in tending up the health of man's conscience and spiritual life, in trying to reach each one you help to live better? You have been unexampled in the results of sinfulness indulgence on the body as well as the soul, you stand where a word will weigh a ton in healing men and women to give up vicious habits. I know many doctors who are loyal to the honest truth even at the risk of losing their patients. But you need more than this. If there was a new remedy discovered for some disease, and you had a patient sick with that trouble, would you not be in honor bound to get that remedy for him and so cure him? Is not your study all directed to this end, the keeping up on all possible remedies? And may I call your attention to the fact that many sicknesses are caused by sore hearts, inner despair and hopelessness, the sense of helplessness against some bad habit, and there is just one known and effective remedy for every such lack of spiritual vitality—the touch of the Great Physician, Jesus. You need Him in your own heart, to keep you clean, sweet, and wholesome in spirit amid the sicknesses you encounter, you need him for your patients, many of whom would get well fast if the heart were only made sound once more. The world is hungry today for healing of soul, for the beam of light that can cause the heartache, and Jesus alone has the secret, it is your duty to minister all you can to the removal of the causes, and not merely to treat symptoms. Is it not called quackery to treat superficially and not diagnose the root causes of disease and remove them? Your profession and mine alike stand for restoring normal, wholesome life to those who have gotten out of tune and balance. I would urge you to get the most balanced religion that will give both soul and mind and their normal, healthy exercise to man is unbalanced who pictures the body and neglects the body, he is unbalanced, too, while he who pictures the body and neglects the mind is an ignoramus, what shall we call the deficiency of him who neglects the soul, the highest, divinest part of him, that links him with heaven and eternity, that gives meaning and purpose to life, and leads his life in God's best possible way?"

Henry Drummond.
"When Henry Drummond spoke these plain truths to the medical students of New York, he who wrote those epoch-making books, 'Natural Law of the World,' and 'The Ascent of Man,' is got to the bottom of the students' hearts with his straightforward, manly way of presenting the truth, and his quick grasp of their lives over into the keeping of Jesus Christ. Yet could not do better if you are serious in a desire for the best things than to read his books along with your Bible. Hear what he says in one address: 'The moment a man allows his body to rule, this is sin, against God and Nature. One night years ago there was a meeting of the Write Cross society. The meeting had argued that sin was not natural; one of the professors said, 'That's your point. The sin you heard of tonight is natural.' And the students went and blessed him out of the room. It is not natural to be inverted, not natural for the man to be dead and the body to rule. Sin is the subordination of the man to the beast. . . . Religion is that which binds a man to something higher, nobler and better than himself, and binds man to man. They help him and you to a Perfect Man, and that Man is Jesus Christ, from whom we have power to bestir the body. You must be associated with something stronger and higher, as the pure love of a sister or a faithful companion. You must be bound to Jesus Christ. This will help you to stand, and having done all, to stand—that is to rule.'"

Two illustrations of his I will never forget, that of the pet tiger, which in the hour when he tasted blood, awoke his fury and was just ready to spring upon his sleeping master and kill when that officer shot him through the heart. So are we to kill the sin or doubt or temptation that threatens our spiritual life. Another of the men who sold his mine, discouraged, and the new owners opened up one of the richest veins in all the country within four feet of where he had quit. So some of you have started in religion and quit just on the threshold, leaving the amazing discovery of the healing, keeping the spirit, having power of Jesus Christ, that will make you kin in spirit to him who went about doing good. Like another doctor of whom I heard, may each of you have it said by the boy, 'Oh, he's helping somebody somewhere!' Nobler life never was than to minister to the healing of the sicknesses of men, and to unite with suitable care for the body a great reverence and care for the souls of the men to whom you minister."

BEATS WRONG BOY AND WILL FACE TRIAL
Enraged Resident Rushes Out to Disperse Gang of Noisy Boys, But Makes Mistake.
Because some bad boys were plaguing him and making unmerciful noises outside his house, a man who lives on a street named E. Stafford, the son of Mrs. Annie G. Stafford, and pointed him unmercifully with his fists and a stick. When he was finished with the surprised lad, it was discovered that the boy was not in the gang at all, but happened to be passing by the house. The mother went to Judge Smith and swore out a John Doe warrant for the arrest of indignant householder on a charge of battery. The paper was given to Constable Dumas to serve and the culprit will appear in court when found.

HELD UP BY LIVERYMAN

Griffith Willever Is Charged With Highway Robbery. Employee of Crescent Stables Said to Have Robbed and Beaten Victims.

Two during hold-ups and robberies, committed with violence, are alleged to have taken place yesterday just before noon on Ventura avenue on the outskirts of the city. Griffith Willever, an employee of the Crescent livery stables, is just charged with the offenses. Two other charges in connection with the highway robbery will be preferred against him today. The robberies are said to have taken place on the other side of the Sunnyside car line, and the victims were two Chinamen and one Japanese. The robbery of the Chinamen took place shortly after that of the Jap. The name of the latter has not been ascertained, but the Chinamen are Chin Yuen and Fong Hong, ranch hands. The former was covered with blood from a blow in the face when he arrived in town, and had a bad abrasion on his wrist, delivered by the stock of a whip. Both men positively identified Willever as the robber. The Japanese will probably be located today to give testimony. The accused man had little to say when arrested. He did not appear under the influence of liquor at the time. According to the testimony of the robbed Chinamen, they were coming to town along the road near the Sunnyside car line at about 11:30 yesterday morning, when they were overtaken by a man in a buggy. A Jap was walking behind them, also going to town. The man in the buggy, whom they identified as Willever, reined up and demanded $5 at once.

Addressing Chin Yuen, he said: "You owe me $5. I'm offering it if you don't give me the money. I will take you in this rig back to town and arrest you and you will then have to pay $300 in court for a fine." The Chinamen started to run, but the fellow dismounted and made after them, whip in hand. He overtook them in a few yards and grabbed Yuen and attempted to search him. The wily Chinaman made a pretense of protecting a pocket which contained nothing at all, leaving unprotected a pocket on the other side which contained some money in gold. Finding nothing in the pocket, and omitting the other pocket for which no effort was made to protect, he pushed him roughly aside and grabbed the other Chinaman. With a violent blow in the face, he felled him to the ground, and when the man rose to his feet and started to escape he struck him on the arm and wrist with his whip, at the same time striking the other Chinaman with great violence over the head and shoulders.

The two Chinamen, however, were crafty enough to conceal what money they had with them, and the robber was about to leave them when he espied the Jap, who stood spellbound in the road. Rushing up to him the fellow demanded all the money in his possession, and got $1. He then jumped in his buggy and galloped off in the other direction.

The Chinamen came to town, but the Jap started off on a run, and was afterwards picked up by the man in the rig. When the Celestials arrived in town they made no complaint, believing for the time that perhaps the highwayman might really be an officer. A complaint, who speaks English, reported the matter, and it came to the notice of Deputies Collins and Pickett within one hour from the robbery.

The officers started out in pursuit and in a remarkably short time came across their man as he was returning to town in the buggy. He was charged with the offense, but had little to say. Deputy District Attorney Kauke drew up the complaint on attempted robbery in the case of the Chinamen, and will attend to the charge connected with the holding up of the Jap when he can be found to testify.

The man's own story is to the effect that he was returning from a trip to Sanger, where he was approached by a Japanese, who wanted a ride. He took the Jap in and after reaching a certain point his passenger dismounted, handing him one dollar for the drive. Later he met the two Chinamen and they wanted also to ride. He refused to let them in and then, according to his story, they began to abuse him roundly. With that he dismounted and defended himself against their insults, striking one in the face and the other on the back.

AT THE NOVELTY.
High Class Vaudeville Attractions for the Coming Week.
Beginning tonight and running all week the Novelty theatre will present a grand array of high class vaudeville attractions. All the acts are direct from some of the largest circuits in the world and, therefore, should be most pleasing. Good vaudeville is well received anywhere, so consequently the popular Novelty should be packed to the doors at each performance during the week. Adams and Edwards have an abundance of comedy and some good singing, too, and will be seen to great advantage. Adolph Farbio, known as the golden monster in Hadesland, presents a wonderful continuing act, carrying his own special scenery and beautiful wardrobe. Gene King, who possesses an unusually sweet voice, has been retained by popular request and will be seen in his own original act, assisted by his faithful dog. The Cate family, four in number, have a musical act which is said to be exceedingly good, and from all reports this act should prove to be a winner. A new illustrated song with beautiful illustrations will please us as ever. Bettie Smith, a pretty and clever comedienne, sings some up-to-date songs and dances unusually well. Latest and best moving pictures of the century will complete the best vaudeville show ever seen in Fresno.

Why Not Go East Personally Conducted

The cost is no greater than if you went unaccompanied, but the enjoyment of the journey will be greatly increased if you travel with the Burlington Personally Conducted Excursions. These excursions leave San Francisco (Oakland Pier) every Wednesday, Thursday and Friday morning, traveling in Pullman Tourist Sleeping cars thro' the heart of the Rockies. The special conductors are picked men of long experience, and have a great store of travel knowledge.

No matter where you are going, it will pay you to learn about this plan.

Commends Federated Trades. for their Initiative for a Sunday Closing Law.

Day for Physical Rest. "But the Sabbath is not only a day for spiritual worship, it is likewise a day for physical rest. Now, in our day the most of the violations of the Sabbath in a large way are irreparable in two things: to the love of pleasure and to the prevailing lust of money. That this is a pleasure-loving age goes without the saying. Why our own little city spends tens of thousands of dollars annually for pleasure. That much of it is had upon the Sabbath-day also goes without saying. But a far larger infringement on the day is traceable to the prevailing lust for money. Business is carried on, or demands the presence of employees, so that there may be more money made, not so that there may be a better service of the people. Street cars are run, not that the people may go to church and run about on the errands of the Lord, but that there may be more money at the end of the week. Baseball parks are not opened so that tired people may rest, but so that the managers and players may make money. It is greed versus politics, and we have no need to trouble the law for being ourselves. The law is not being observed more loosely in the interest of the better life of the nation, but against that interest, and in the service of commercialism. That is the fact on the side of the men who violate it in a large way.

Reasonably Priced

The very cheapest meat we sell has quality to recommend it. We are such heavy buyers that the very pick of cattle comes to us. Our meats are properly iced before they leave our shop. Beef sold too fresh will never be tender. We take every sanitary precaution to insure the absolute healthfulness of the meat we sell, and we sell it more reasonably than the town has ever before known.

This store brought meat prices down and this store keeps them down.

LOSE GAME
IN ELEVENTHHarry Wolters' Error Cost
Fresno Yesterday's Game.

Fans Witnessed Eleven Innings of Good Ball—Portland this Week.

Harry Wolters is certainly the hard luck pitcher of the Fresno baseball team. He pitched nine innings of excellent baseball yesterday, but then he pitched two innings of very poor ball and it was those two innings that enabled Seattle to win the game by the score of 4 to 2. Oscar Jones was on the slab for the Seaside and he went up in the air in the first inning allowing three hits and two runs. But Oscar stooded down and four scattered hits were all that the Rain Forest could get off him after that first inning.

Casey started that first inning by waiting until Jones issued him a free pass to the initial sack. Then Charlie Doyle followed with a hit through short. Casey stole third and came home on Wolters' single to the left guard. McLaughlin followed with a single to the same spot and Doyle scored. Edgan knocked a ball to Jones and McLaughlin went out at second and Edgan at first on a double play. DeLuna could locate nothing good and the scoring ended there.

Seattle did not get a look-in until the seventh inning when Wolters' lack of control allowed the Indians to tie the score. Croll went out on a pretty pick-up by Truck Egan and Wolters hit Streib in the foot with the ball and walked. Mott. McKenna's long two-bagger to left field scored both these men.

Then it was a pitcher's battle for the game. In the eighth, ninth and tenth innings Wolters didn't allow a single hit and Jones was found for but one. But the tenth told the story.

But Croll and Streib headed safe with hits to left, which might have been stopped by Truck Egan had he made an effort to move from his position to get after them. Mott and Kane went out and then Jones got the sequence play. Harry Wolters got one ball and threw it wild to first allowing both Croll and Streib to score. Kane's slow hit to DeLuna scored Jones at second and the game ended.

DIAMOND FLASHES.

Portland, the pennant winners of this year's season, will be here this week, the last week of the season. All the games will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

The street car company evidently had not been informed yesterday that the game began at 2:30 o'clock. From 1:30 until 2:10 o'clock there was no car at all in Recreation park and when the Mogul was finally landed out it arrived there after the game had begun.

THE ELLEFORD STOCK COMPANY

W. J. Elleford, Proprietor of the Oakland Stock Company.

"Their popularity never wanes," is a true saying when applied to all the companies under the management of W. J. Elleford. Fresno has had this season the pleasure of witnessing one of his successful companies and now it will have opportunity to judge of the merits of his Oakland stock company, which will play an engagement on six nights at the Barton commencing tonight.

If the newspaper clippings of the metropolitan papers could be read by all his patrons, the Barton engagement would not be able to accommodate all on the opening night. Every daily paper in Oakland and San Francisco has been loud in its praise of this company. To be able to play at the Macdonough theater of Oakland, for twenty-five weeks continuously and with the biggest patronage that the well-known playhouse has ever enjoyed, is proof that the theatergoers of Fresno will have a treat all this week.

The opening play, "That Girl From Texas," is a strong comedy drama that was one of the most successful of all the first in stock. It will be succeeded by the following late New York successes, all of which are new to this city at the modest price which Mr. Elleford charges. Sherlock Holmes Deplorable Feature of the Penal System of this State.

Dr. S. E. Lynd of Berkeley, state president of the California Prison Association, spoke yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting on prison reform. His subject was "What Shall We Do With Our Criminals?" He told of deplorable conditions existing in the penal institutions of this state under the congested system and made a strong plea in the interest of a public sentiment for a segregation of prisoners and for the adoption in this state of the indeterminate sentence.

Dr. Lynd first discussed who are the criminals. Using the homely analogy that skin rises to the top he said some of the greatest criminals are uneducated representatives of interests who control a legislature or hold a city in bondage. Many of the men who are sent to state's prison are not uneducated by any means, although unless of unusually strong character they will be graduated criminals at the expiration of their term. County jails and state prisons, said the speaker, are training in "The Sign of the Four," "A Ragged Hero," "Josh Whitcomb," companion play to "The Old Homestead," "Saved From Shame," and "The Slave Girl."

Manager Elleford has reason to feel proud when he offers such artists as James Corrigan, best character actor in the West; Nona MacGregor, who toured the world with Jane Waldorf; William R. Abram, so long with the Helmsen forces; Rupert Druin, from the Empire theater in New York; Albert Laskala, late of the Alcazar theater, San Francisco; Wallace Howe, last season with the Dearborn stock company of Chicago; Edward Vaughn, for years in stock at Curtis theater, Devery Agnes William Johns, last season with the Y. M. C. A. men's meeting, and the Humming Bird, Georgia Wood, who formerly with Florence Roberts; Pauline Maitland, from Forest's theater in Philadelphia; and Estelle Warfield, from Baker theater in Portland.

At large royalties the management has secured a list of plays, which have never been played in the West at the popular prices of 10, 20 and 30 cents, which will be the charge during this engagement. And then Flo Patterson, the comic shouter, will entertain between acts. Seats are on sale all day, prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

This is due to the indifference of the public to the mismanagement of the prison system. First offenders are compelled to associate constantly with past-masters in crime and become eager pupils of incorrigible offenders.

Notwithstanding these conditions a goodly percentage of the inmates of San Quentin, are struggling in prison to reform themselves. They have an Endeavor Society of some 200 members, who, were it not for the stripes, would not be thought in any wise inferior to any body of earnest men of like number.

The speaker drew a pathetic picture of the release of prisoners without money, without friends, without a place to go. Many really regret the day of release. The editor of an ex-convict, which is encountered every where, draws the sake of an asylum in prison. Dr. Lynd told of the work of the society he represents in giving these men a new start in life and of the large percentage who are reclaimed by this kindly interest.

In conclusion Dr. Lynd spoke in favor of the indeterminate sentence, with the probation feature, and at the close there was a discussion as to the operation of this law in the states where it is now in force.

PROHIBITION
PARTY RALLYMeeting Addressed By State
Candidates.J. E. Blanchard, Candidate for Governor, Explains
Liquor Traffic.

The Prohibition party rally was held yesterday afternoon in the court house and on James H. Blanchard, candidate for governor, and E. Leonardson, chairman of the State Central committee, addressed the meeting. It was the first of a series of meetings.

Before introducing the speakers, Sheldon said that he wished to make a statement regarding the Sunday meeting. He said that although it did not seem in keeping with the party principles, the Sunday meeting in no way opposed the doctrine of the Prohibition party. The ministers of the churches frequently spoke on civil reforms on Sunday and the Prohibition party had its basic principle, the purifying of the government.

Congressional Candidate.
Dr. Durland, congressional candidate from the Sixth district, was then introduced and spoke for a few minutes on the growth of the Prohibition party. He said: "The party which I represent is the only party that has in its platform, the moral improvement in government. We have adopted the plank of suppressing the liquor traffic because we recognize that all evil, social, political and moral, is due to the cause of drunkenness and when the temptation and means of securing liquor are removed, by closing saloons and stopping the manufacture and importation of whisky, will have been bestowed on the American people. Even the greatest men in either of the two dominant national parties are not beyond the influence of the liquor dealers of this country. When William McKinley, whom all recognized as a splendid type of noble statesman, was touring this country previous to his election, he stopped in Peoria. This city is noted as the center of Methodism in its section and has many men, prominent in national affairs who are eminent church members. But instead of being the guest of these men, who would gladly receive him in their homes, Mr. McKinley was banqueted and entertained by Mr. Greenwood, one of the largest liquor dealers in the United States."

"The principles of prohibition have been recognized as the only safeguard against crime, in many of the large cities, but only as a last resort. The most striking instance of this was just after the San Francisco disaster, when Mayor Schmitz closed the saloons for seventy days and became a Prohibitionist. This was caused by a violent movement of the earth and it is too bad that there could not have been a couple of shocks since then to keep Mr. Schmitz from backsliding."

Blanchard Introduced.
In introducing Mr. Blanchard Mr. Sheldon said that two men had been introduced in Fresno as the next governor of California. He stated that he would not assert that his candidate would be the next governor, but could assure the people that Mr. Blanchard was capable of holding the office and should be elected. Mr. Blanchard then opened his speech by contrasting the Prohibition party with the other two parties. The Democrats ask for election to suppress the trusts and do away with railroad bosses, and the Republicans promise prosperity by high protective tariff. But there is nothing said about abolishing the liquor traffic and removing the cause for the throwing away of 100,000 lives and wasting of a billion and a half dollars in one year. Other parties consider only the material welfare, while the Prohibition party stands for both the material and moral upbuilding of the nation. Neither of the other parties have succeeded in fulfilling even their meager promises and the 80,000,000 of people of the United States depend for their very existence on six men at the head of trusts. Had not the Lord so wisely placed the sun, 88,000,000 miles from the earth, no doubt some ingenious promoter would have already purchased a franchise from the government, boarded up the sun, and sold light through gilded holes in the boards at so much per day.

History of the Party.

Twenty-five years ago the Prohibition party was a small organization and was scarcely able to stand by its principles. But now it has gained by thousands and comes out with a clear platform which everyone can understand. This is not true of the other parties. Neither will express any definite basic principles, but each depends for its success upon denouncing the other. The Prohibition party appeals to the people to think of the conditions which are caused by the cause of drink and asks them to solve the problem in the only logical way. It asks every man to vote for the party which will insure the safety of his boy and girl from the grave of the drunkard and criminal. The liquor traffic in the United States is responsible for the hosts of child laborers, who toil from daylight to dark in factories and sweat shops and who do not grow to womanhood and manhood, but merely become aged and stunted. From this helpless and unfortunate class come the anarchists and murderers who fill the prisons and the insane asylums.

Christian Indifference.

Rev. Mr. Leonardson, a Los Angeles minister, was then introduced and showed the indifference of many who claimed to be Christians to the political welfare of the country. He attributed the deplorable conditions of politics to the feeling of many religious people that interest in civic conditions was degrading. The preacher, he stated, feared to vote the Prohibition ticket because it would lose and the saloon keeper would not vote it because it might win. Many people think that they have misused their vote if it is given to a cause which is defeated. But it is better to fight for a just cause and lose than to follow an evil one to victory.

In the evening Mr. Leonardson spoke at the First M. E. church.

CHILEANS TO INVESTIGATE
'FRISCO RECONSTRUCTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Three Chilean engineers, on their way to San Francisco to study the reconstruction of that city, arrived here today on the Umbra. They were Chiriquena, Calvo, McKenna and P. DeLuna, all graduates of the University of Chile, who have been abroad for the past eight years at the expense of the university.

Immediately after the earthquake at Valparaiso, the young men were sent out on their mission of investigation. After a short stay in San Francisco, they will return to Chile.

Buy Diamonds Now

They're good investments, and especially so since they're increasing in value so fast—in fact, they're 20 per cent higher today than they were this time last year. While our present stock lasts, we will sell our diamonds at the same prices we were asking for them before the raise.
